

Hamid Arabnia

Professor of Computer Science

W: <http://www.worky.com/hamid-arabnia>

A noted researcher, educator, and computer science professional, Hamid R. Arabnia has advanced his field through countless avenues since embarking on his career, including publishing his insights, delivering keynote addresses, organizing committees, and editing his peers' work. Currently, Arabnia instructs students at the University of Georgia, where he acts as a Professor of Computer Science. In addition, Hamid R. Arabnia serves on the advisory board for the International Journal of Computer Science and Applications; the International Journal of Innovation; and the International Journal of Information Technology, Communications and Convergence, among many others.

Hamid Arabnia's Professional Experience

1987 - Present

University of Georgia - Professor of Computer Science

Editor-in-Chief, The Journal of Supercomputing (Springer) Co-Editor/Board, Journal of Computational Science (Elsevier) Elected Fellow, Int'l Society of Intelligent Biological Medicine (ISIBM) Guest Editor: IEEE Transactions on Information Technology in Biomedicine (T-ITB; 2008-2010)

Hamid Arabnia's Education and Qualifications

1987

Bachelor/Degree - Computer Science

University of Kent

Hamid Arabnia's Additional Information

Links

Hamid Arabnia on PeoplePond - <http://www.peoplepond.com/hamidarabnia>

Hamid Arabnia | Viadeo - <http://us.viadeo.com/en/profile/hamid.arabnia>

Hamid Arabnia at Tumblr - <http://hamidarabnia.tumblr.com/>

Hamid Arabnia, Website - <http://hamidarabnia.net/>

Interests

Traveling, science fiction, eating out, swimming
