Joanne Lee currently acts as an Associate with the Chicago offices of Foley & Lardner LLP. The law firm offers services in a range of practice areas, including public policy, intellectual property, corporate litigation, and real estate, among others. Ms. Lee concentrates her efforts primarily on Chapter 11 bankruptcy cases, which involves preparing first-day motions, negotiating claims, and more. Joanne Lee brings to her role at Foley & Lardner LLP a strong work ethic and success in both educational and professional settings.

Ms. Lee first displayed her talent for academics while an undergraduate at the University of Illinois, where she held the title of Cohn Scholar during her freshman year. She also earned distinction as a James Scholar for her impressive grade point average and commitment to completing a pair of honors classes each year. Finally, as a participant in the Anthropology Honors Program, she completed independent coursework in Asian American studies en route to finishing a thesis.
