Dr. Masoud Azizad earned his Bachelor's degree with honors from the University of California, Irvine in only three years. Soon following his graduation, Dr. Masoud Azizad enrolled at New York Medical College in Valhalla, New York, a highly competitive institution. Dr. Masoud Azizad excelled in medical school, focusing his studies on becoming an Internist. After earning his medical degree, Dr. Masoud Azizad went to California, where he opened his own internal medicine practice in July 2002.

At his Northridge office, Dr. Masoud Azizad was the first doctor in the state to accept the Lipomatic VibroLipo method of liposuction. A less invasive procedure, Dr. Masoud Azizad used the technology to allow patients undergoing liposuction or liposculpting to recover more quickly and with less pain. Lipomatic VibroLipo also has less of a chance of side effects than most conventional forms of the procedure.
