Between 2005 and 2008, Roni Amid held a position in the airline industry serving as Vice Chairman for MAXjet Airways, a company based on his idea of an all-business-class airline. MAXjet Airways, which started as SkyLink Airways, began in 2003 and was headquartered in Virginia. Roni Amid and associates raised $1 million through the London Stock Exchange and set up the airway's infrastructure. Though small, the airline served a popular niche of business flyers who traveled regularly to London.
