Tom Abbatemarco is a tenacious and ambitious salesman who has striven to exceed sales goals in every position he has held. Now with over 15 years of sales experience, Abbatemarco continues to grow and develop new markets for his business ventures.

Beginning as a Sales Representative for the Edward Hines Lumber Company, Tom Abbatemarco worked quickly to establish himself as an up-and-coming force in the sales department. Awarded Rookie of the Year for his exceptional performance as a deal-closer, increasing the number of closings by 25%, Abbatemarco was made the head of sales for the North Shore, Illinois and Southern Wisconsin markets. By the end of 1999, Abbatemarco had produced over $2.8 million in new sales.

Tom Abbatemarco then embarked on a new avenue of commerce, striking out into the world of online services. At iCastle.com and Intermedia Business Internet, Abbatemarco was responsible for expanding the business through persistent customer service and market-saturation techniques.
