

Dan Abrams

A seasoned news broadcaster and digital media pioneer -
New York, New York, United States

W: <http://www.worky.com/dan-abrams>

Recognizing the power of online media and content, Dan Abrams has pursued several new ventures in recent years. Dan Abrams launched his own company, Abrams Research (www.abramsresearch.com), which provides philanthropic institutions, government agencies, and Fortune 500 businesses, among others, with content-rich solutions for enhanced web presence.

In addition to contributing to important print media outlets such as The New York Times and The Wall Street Journal, Dan Abrams is writing his first book, titled Man Down: Proof Beyond a Reasonable Doubt That Women Are Better Cops, Drivers, Gamblers, Spies, World Leaders, Beer Tasters, Hedge Fund Managers, and Just About Everything Else, which is due to be released in the spring of 2011. For more information on Dan Abrams and his upcoming book, visit www.huffingtonpost.com/dan-abrams, www.nndb.com/people/624/000047483, or www.itstdanabrams.net.

Dan Abrams's Professional Experience

2008 - Present Abrams Research - CEO

A unique Digital & Social Media Agency based in New York, NY. Our team of digital strategists, researchers and designers direct your social media efforts to efficiently reach and engage your target audience.

2001 - Present Abrams Media Network - CEO

2001-2006:

- Launched and hosted The Abrams Report.

2009:

- Launched Mediaite, the site for news, information and smart opinions about print, online and broadcast media, offering original and immediate assessments of the latest news as it breaks.
- Launched Gossip Cop. Co-founded by Dan Abrams, GossipCop.com was created to police the gossip industry. Launched in July 2009, it is the go-to destination for credible celebrity news. Every day the site separates fact from fiction, and has fun doing it.

2010:

- Launched Geekosystem, whose mission is to unite all the tribes of geekdom under one common banner. There's a lot of overlap between the different families of geekery: The geeks who are into gadgets and computers are often one and the same as the geeks who are into comics and sci-fi are often just the same as the geeks who are fueling the culture of the Web — one forum or imageboard at a time. As the site's name suggests, Geekosystem recognizes and celebrates these interconnections and the oft-overlooked personalities that hold it all together.
 - Launched Styleite, which is dedicated to giving the latest and greatest in fashion and beauty news, insight, and commentary. Styleite also hosts the web's most innovative and interactive photo community, Style Sheets.
 - Launched Sports Grid, the site for news, information and smart opinions about sports. Our proprietary "Power Grid" objectively ranks sports figures across a multitude of categories based on their real-time relevance. Power Grid rankings rely on an array of metrics — including (depending on the category) fantasy league rankings, Twitter followers, web buzz, franchise value, and total viewership.
-

Key Skills TV journalist, print journalist, news broadcaster, digital media pioneer, social media

Dan Abrams's Education and Qualifications

1992 PhD/Doctorate - JD/Law

1988 Bachelor/Degree - Political Science

Duke University

- Graduated cum laude
 - Anchored newscasts on Cable 13
 - Vice President of student body
-

Dan Abrams's Additional Information

Links

Dan Abrams' Legal Blog - <http://danabramslegal.wordpress.com/>

Dan Abrams on Twitter - <http://twitter.com/danabrams1>

Lookuppage | Dan Abrams - <http://www.lookuppage.com/users/danabrams/>

It's Dan Abrams - <http://www.itsdanabrams.net>

Dan Abrams' Resume - <http://danabrams.emurse.com/>
