Jason Ader is the CEO and Portfolio Manager at Ader Investment Management, located on the Avenue of the Americas in New York City. Throughout his two decades on Wall Street, Mr. Ader has developed a methodology for researching, analyzing, and identifying real estate and consumer related stocks with attractive risk-reward scenarios. He then develops diversified portfolios with strict risk management controls in order to balance market risk with market returns. Investors benefit from Mr. Ader's attention to fundamentals and ability to balance short term market momentum with long term fundamentals, which allows him to manage risk and preserve capital.
